

Sidney Albert Training and Research Institute

The Sidney Albert Training and Research Institute (SATRI) is one of the premiere human services educational and training institutions in New York state. Based in Albany, SATRI provides center-based, onsite, and online training to thousands of industry professionals for school districts, nonprofits, and other organizations each year. SATRI provides statewide training and technical assistance to the more than 4,500 professionals in NYS Office of Children and Family Services Bridges to Health (B2H) and Office of Mental Health Home and Community-based Services (HCBS) programs, along with more than 1,300 participants from school districts and other agencies.

SATRI offers:

- CEU opportunities
- Curriculum development
- Creative and adaptive training to meet workforce challenges
- Crisis intervention training
- Workforce training recordkeeping and compliance monitoring

Courses include:

- Crisis intervention training
- Dignity for All Students Act (DASA)
- Youth mental health first aid

“SATRI worked with us to deliver the right training at the right time, on our schedule and on budget.”

Life changing care

Northern Rivers is a family of human services agencies that work together and are committed to helping children, adults, and families through more than 60 programs and services.

“We find new ways to give children and families strength and hope.”

Formed in 2012, Northern Rivers is the parent organization to Parsons Child & Family Center (founded in 1829 in Albany) and Northeast Parent & Child Society (founded in 1888 in Schenectady). Our quality of care, depth of programs, combined size, and passion for the mission make us a leading human services provider.

“It is meaningful to be able to make a difference in the lives of young people.”

Residential and Foster Care Services

We have safe and therapeutic home and facility-based residential environments with comprehensive services for children and the families who support them. With more than 200 foster homes throughout the region and multiple levels of residential care in Albany and Schenectady, we have the right solution for every family in need. We offer:

- Residences for children with emotional and behavioral needs
- Group homes for adolescents and young adults
- Foster homes
- Short-term housing for youth in crisis
- Adoption support
- Supported apartment living

Behavioral Health Services

Our community-based system of social work and psychiatric services are designed to support the diverse range of behavioral health needs of children, adults, and families while providing opportunities for awareness, growth, empowerment, and healing.

Our behavioral health services are available in many school districts, in the community through our crisis teams, and at our Behavioral Health Centers. We offer:

- Mobile crisis response services
- In-home crisis intervention
- Mental health counseling
- Early-onset psychosis support
- In-school mental health services

Coordinated Care and Community Solutions

Care management and clinical services are designed to support children’s individual needs and to provide families with skills, resources, and services that increase their ability to support children in their development. We offer:

We safely maintain children in their homes and communities through family-focused interventions.

- In-home family counseling and support
- Mental health child welfare waiver programs
- Mental health case management and Health Home support
- Parent counseling

Education Services

Educational, clinical, and career development services for children and young adults with special needs related to social-emotional functioning, academics, and life planning that ensures sustainability and future student success. We offer:

We operate two diploma-granting special education (853) schools, each serving more than 150 students:

- Neil Hellman School, grades K–12, Albany
- School at Northeast, grades 6–12, Schenectady

And a learning center for infants and toddlers:

- Early Learning Center providing Early Head Start, pre-K, and daycare, Schenectady
